

Parents, guidance counselors, nurses, teachers, principals, and community health educators — join us for the invitational screening and panel discussion:

When A Child Knows Someone With Cancer:

Helping Young Children Cope with the Cancer Diagnosis of a Loved One

Sunday, Oct. 18, 2009, 2-3:30pm

WGBH, One Guest Street, Brighton, MA 02135

Seating is limited, RSVP now at wgbh.org/arthursscreening

This event will feature a sneak preview of The Great MacGrady (the new half-hour special on cancer and survivorship from Arthur — premiering on public television on Monday, Oct. 19); an expert panel will be on hand to answer your questions; plus, a host of new resources and effective strategies for supporting young children as they cope with the cancer diagnosis of a loved one.

About The Great MacGrady: When everyone's beloved lunch lady, Mrs. MacGrady, is diagnosed with cancer, kids react in different ways — Arthur and D.W. rush to her side with chicken soup. Francine is so upset she can't even bring herself to visit. Lance Armstrong, who knows a thing or two about cancer survivorship, makes a special appearance to help Francine, and kids like her, find ways to cope with their feelings and show their love and support.

For more information, contact WGBH at 617-300-4200. Please note, for discussion purposes, this event is limited to guests over the age of 16.

Brought to you by the Vernon Cancer Center at Newton-Wellesley Hospital — offering patients expert cancer care, innovative services and advanced treatment options from specialists at Newton-Wellesley Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital.